

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE Patronage bestowed upon our First Catalogue, induces us to put forth a "FURTHER SELECTION," from our Extensive Stock of OLD BOOKS, which we think will prove to be of no less interest.

The present Catalogue contains Books in nearly every Department of Literature, Works on the FINE ARTS and ILLUSTRATED BOOKS, SPECIMENS of EARLY PRINTING and BLACK LETTER; with special Collections under the Headings of "BIBLE CUTS," "CHESS," "EMBLEMS," "FACETIE," "IRELAND," "PORTRAITS," and "WRITING."

The Condition of the Books and Binding is invariably faithfully described. Particular care has been exercised in the acquisition of such only as are in good state, both internally and externally: whilst many present examples of fine original Morocco Bindings.

With respect to Prices, we adhere to our original Plan of marking our Books at the Lowest (NETT) Prices, not subject to Discount or Commission to Agents. We, therefore, respectfully solicit that Orders may be transmitted to us direct; and so satisfied are we, that the prices marked are reasonable, that we court comparison with those of any other Catalogue, provided the Books be in equal condition.

T. & W. BOONE beg to state that they undertake the Cataloguing and arrangement of Libraries, and are willing to effect exchanges, or to purchase (for Cash) Rare Old Books and Manuscripts.

Enquiries are continually pursued for such Books, not in Stock, as may be required.

NEW PUBLICATIONS are likewise supplied on the most favourable terms.

T. & W BOONE.

29, NEW BOND STREET, LONDON. W.

A few Copies of the FIRST CATALOGUE still remain, which will be forwarded by Post on receipt of Name and Address, enclosing 12 stamps.

DIBDIN'S BIBLIOGRAPHICAL, ANTIQUARIAN, AND PICTURESQUE TOUR IN FRANCE AND GERMANY, 3 vols. divided into 4. Together 7 vols. impl. 8vo. LARGE PAPER, russia extra, by C. Lewis, 1817-21

The great rarity of this fine set of books on LARGE PAPER may be readily imagined, when it is stated that 50 copies only of the former and 100 of the latter were printed; and, within the last few years, the majority of the copies that have occurred for sale have gone to America. These works are generally acknowledged to combine the best specimens of engraving and typography that this country has ever issued.

In the present copy, most of the Vignettes are taken off on India paper; it is further additionally ILLUSTRATED with "Lewis' Groups," INDIA PAPER PROOFS, and likewise contains an impression of the extremely rare PRIVATE PLATE of "Diane de Poitiers," of which, it is said, 25 copies only were taken.

The only subject of regret, in this otherwise choice book, is, that some of the plates and a portion of the text have suffered from mildew spots.

- 614 GALTHERIE, Alexandreides, Poema. Printed in cursive type
8vo. vellum (slightly water-stained), RARE, 80s.

Lugduni, 1558

The Author, a native of Lille, was Bishop of Maguelone in Languedoc, and was considered one of the first poets of his age. The well-known proverb, "Incidis in Scyllam cupiens vitare Charybdim," occurs in this poem; and, as no earlier trace of it can be found, he is supposed to be the father of the line.

In the Privilege it is stated, "pour remuneration de son invention de sa lettre française d'art de main."

Solar's copy sold for 110 fr.; and Mitford's, in 1859, for 3l. 6s.

- 619 GARDINER (Stephen, Bp. of Winchester) A Declaration of such true Articles as George Joye hath gone about to confute as false. Black letter, sm. 8vo. old calf, VERY RARE, 2l. 8s.

Imprinted by Johannes Herforde, at the cost of Robert Toye, 1540

This very curious book contains the defence of Bp. Gardiner against the charge of Joye, of having entrapped Dr. Barnes into England, and having harassed him through a variety of miseries, until he was cruelly burned.

This volume is doubly interesting, because it contains the whole of Joye's narrative, no copy of which is now known to exist, as also the Bishop's answer to it.

LENOIR (A.) Nouvelle Explication des Hieroglyphes—Examen de quelques Monumens de Memphis et des Environs de Thèbes—Description d'un Papyrus Egyptien appartenant à M. Amelin. Du Costume chez les Egyptiens. Le Déluge considéré comme une fiction. De la grande année des anciens. MANUSCRIPT, small folio, half bound, 4l. 1816

Besides the above Treatises in the Autograph of this distinguished Egyptian Scholar, the volume contains a number of Essays and Papers contributed by him to various scientific Journals, mounted or inlaid, further enriched with MS. Notes and additions, and illustrated with numerous Prints and some Drawings; amongst others is a fine pen and ink sketch of the figure Isis, and a copy of a Papyrus in the Bibliothèque Imperiale. It is, doubtless, the Manuscript for an intended complete Edition of this Author's Works, and is lettered as being the 4th volume; the various Treatises before named, are however complete in themselves.

The interest of this MS. is considerably enhanced by a very curious list of Manuscript Books, contained on the fly-leaf, purporting to be the Catalogue of those which Dieboldt Loubet, a writer in the town of Hagenow, in Alsatia, offers to the attention of amateurs.

Of the 38 works enumerated, the greater number consist of copies of Romances of Chivalry, viz. Roman de Perceval, Gesta Romanorum, Livre de Tristan, &c., whilst others relate to theological subjects.

We think it may fairly be presumed that the said Dieboldt Loubet was himself the Copyist of the Manuscripts in question, and afterwards announced them for sale.

The history of this remarkable book is almost as extraordinary as its contents. It seems from the preface of the translator, that nearly all the copies of the original work were destroyed by order of Pope Gregory XIII.; and that a gentleman, in 1652, on digging a foundation, turned up a book carefully wrapped in coarse linen cloth, and covered with bees'-wax, which proved to be the "Divine Discourses" of Luther, as buried by his grandfather, in order to evade the edict of the Pope.

- 8 MISSALE AD USUM ROMANUM. A SUPERB MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written in the XV. Century in a large Gothic hand, with the Music of the Chants. It is divided into 2 volumes, each with a Calendar and a Canon of the Mass: both contain two large and highly finished Miniature Paintings, occupying an entire page—one representing the "Crucifixion," the other the "Figure of the Deity, with Emblems of the Evangelists at the corners;" but in both the said subjects are differently treated. There are likewise (in the 2 vols.) 63 very delicately painted Miniatures, measuring about 3 inches square, and on the margins where the same occur, are Illuminated Borders of Flowers and Foliage in gold and colours. There are, moreover, 163 highly ornamental large Initial Letters, besides a profusion of smaller ones. These noble volumes measure 12 inches by 6, by 2½ and 3½ inches, respectively, thick. Bound in old blue morocco, edges gaufréed and gilt

This fine Manuscript is presumed to have been executed for a Bishop of Besancon, the Pastoral Cross and a Coat of Arms being frequently introduced into the borders; but the latter has been invariably partially obliterated.

LE PRIME QUATTRO EDIZIONI DELLA DIVINA COMMEDIA

LETTERALMENTE RISTAMPATE PER CURA DI

G. G. WARREN, LORD VERNON.

LONDRA 1858.

Le quattro edizioni della Divina Commedia, cui qui si accenna, non trovandosi riunite se non se nella Biblioteca del Museo Britannico, Lord Vernon volle dar una prova novella del suo generoso amore per l' altissimo poeta, procurandone la ristampa, che affidò al Sig. A. Panizzi.

L' editore ha creduto suo debito non distaccarsi mai in conto alcuno dai testi che aveva innanzi a se, lo scopo che si prefiggeva Lord Vernon essendo quello soltanto di porre in mano di chi non poteva consultare le edizioni originali, una copia accurata di esse. Siffatte edizioni sono quella del Numeister pubblicata a Foligno, quella di Federico Veronese venuta in luce a Jesi, quella di Giorgio e Paolo Tedeschi stampata a Mantova, tutte tre con la data del 1472. La quarta è senza data: ma uscì dai torchi di Francesco del Tuppo a Napoli circa il 1476, ed è di tutte la più arissima.

The glory of producing an imperishable record of that great conflict was reserved for General Napier."—Macaulay's Essays.

We freely confess that in no language, ancient or modern, have we perused a narrative of warlike operations comparable to this; not merely in respect to the beauty and spirit of its style and arrangement, but in reference to its admirable clearness and profound and just philosophy."

United Service Journal.

The most celebrated and ablest military history in our language. The work is really excellent—we might almost say perfect: there is certainly no defect of quality in which it is deficient: it has ease, animation, brevity, correctness and vigour. The descriptions of the various places of combat are admirably clear and comprehensive, and the reasons of the warlike manoeuvres are plain, even to quiet civilians, by the skill and talent of the writer."

REMARKS ON MILITARY LAW AND THE PUNISHMENT OF FLOGGING.

BY MAJOR-GENERAL SIR CHARLES JAMES NAPIER, K.C.B.

"This work, we have several times taken occasion to remark, is far less known it deserves to be, especially among the profession. It abounds in lessons of prudence, delivered in the clearest language, and it is as modestly as it is ably written nor have we often met with a more amusing book. There are to be found in it interesting and characteristic anecdotes, and there is a vein of quiet humour that is very diverting, but which interferes not at all with the serious purpose of the author, who has left upon every page traces of a benevolent heart and sound intellect."—Naval and Military Gazette.

MILITARY FIGURES FOR THE PRACTICE AND EXPLANATION OF THE "EXERCISE AND EVOLUTIONS OF THE ARMY

According to Her Majesty's Regulations;

Arranged for the Company, Battalion, and Light Infantry,

BY MAJOR HOPKINS, K.H.

"Major Hopkins, of the old 43rd, in which corps he served with distinction invented a set of Military Figures, arranged for the illustration and practice of the evolutions of the Infantry, according to Her Majesty's regulations, and exceedingly calculated to effect their object. Being adapted to the movements either of the Battalion, or Light Infantry, these Figures, which are accompanied by an Explanation pamphlet, and are very properly dedicated to Lord Fitzroy Somerset, will be very useful to young officers of the Infantry."—United Service Journal.

announcing a History of the War in 1815, by the Constructor of the celebrated Model of the Battle of Waterloo, the Publishers feel confident that the undeniable proof which their work of art affords of the most indefatigable perseverance and industry in the selection of materials for the accurate representation of an event so fertile in glorious events, and so decisive in its influence upon the destinies of Europe, as also of the national skill with which those materials have been arranged for the complete development of that ever memorable conflict, offers a sufficient guarantee for a similar application of the author's unwearied zeal and research in the task he has undertaken of giving what still remains a desideratum in our national history and military records a true and faithful account of that last campaign in Europe, comprising the crowning epoch of the British army, and, at the same time, the closing chapter of the military career of its illustrious chief, the Duke of Wellington.

As numerous as are the accounts already published of this great conflict, the information they convey is generally of too vague and indistinct a nature to satisfy either the soldier or the man who seeks for professional instruction, or the general reader who desires to comprehend more clearly, in all its details, that gorgeous machinery, if it may be so called, which was put in motion, regulated, and controlled by the greatest masters of art, who, in modern times, have been summoned forth to wield the mighty engines of destruction wherewith nations wars against nations. How just is the observation, made by one of the most talented military writers of the day—"Jamais bataille ne fut si complètement décrite que celle de Waterloo." On consulting these accounts, we glean little beyond the fact that at Waterloo the allied army stood its ground, the whole day, in defiance of the reiterated attacks by the French, until the of Wellington led it forward to crown its exertions with the most splendid victory. They afford us but a faint idea of those strategical movements and combinations by which the grand design of the campaign was based by the one party, and with which it was assailed by the other; and we seek in vain for the development of those tactical dispositions by which the skill of the commanders and the valour of the combatants were fairly tested. From the want of due consecutive arrangement in the details, and tendency too frequently manifested to compensate for this deficiency by mere anecdotal narration, the motives by which, in the great game of war, the illustrious players actuated, are left out of view, while circumstances which especially call forth the skill of subordinate officers in command, as also the courage, the discipline, and the prowess of particular brigades, regiments, or even minor divisions of the contending masses, are either imperfectly elucidated, or, as is often the case, unhesitatingly set aside to make way for, the exploits of a few individuals whose deeds, however heroic they may be deemed, constitute but isolated fractional parts of that great sum of moral energy and physical force combined, requisite to give full effect to the application of the mental power of the chieftains under whose guidance the armies are respectively placed. The remarks have reference, more or less, not only to the generality of the accounts of the Battle of Waterloo, with which the public have hitherto been furnished, but also to those of Quatre-Bras, Ligny, and Wavre; the first of which, brilliant as was the reflection which it cast upon the glory of the victors, became eclipsed solely by the more dazzling splendour of the greater, because more important, triumph of Waterloo. The endeavour to remedy these deficiencies, through the medium of the evidence of eye-witnesses, most willingly and liberally supplied, as well as carefully collated, examined, and, at the same time, proved, wherever practicable, by corroborative testimony—each component piece of information being made to dovetail, as it were, into its adjacent and corresponding parts—is the chief object of the present publication.

The opportunities which Captain Siborne has enjoyed of collecting the data required for this highly important work, have been peculiarly favourable. Having commenced his large Model under the authority of the government, he received permission to add himself to the several officers who might have it in their power to communicate valuable information; and, with a view to render such information as complete as possible, and substantiate it by corroborative testimony, he forwarded his applications to almost every surviving Waterloo officer—not limiting his inquiries to any one particular period of the action, but extending them over the whole of the Battle of Waterloo, as also of that of Quatre-Bras, and of the entire campaign. In this manner he has succeeded in obtaining from the combined evidence of eye-witnesses a mass of extremely important matter; and when the public are informed that Captain Siborne has also been in unreserved communication with the governments of our allies in that war, concerning the operations of their troops they respectively brought into the field, it is presumed that the extraordinary advantages he possesses for a satisfactory fulfilment of his design will be at once acknowledged and appreciated.

One remarkable defect which is manifested, without a single exception, in the existing histories of this campaign, consists in the want of good plans upon scales sufficiently comprehensive to admit of the positions and movements being duly illustrated. By the application of the anaglyptograph to accurately executed models, Captain Siborne has succeeded in producing plans of the different fields of battle, which afford so striking a representation of the features of ground—a representation which has all the appearance of the subject being shown in relief—that not only the military man who is accustomed to examine plans, but the civilian who has never studied anything of the kind, will be enabled thoroughly to comprehend them even in the minutest details.

To respond to the interest felt in the record of that glorious contest by the relatives and friends of the combatants, correct lists will be appended to the work, of the names of all officers who were present, distinguishing those who were killed or wounded. Marginal notes will also be introduced wherever officers' names are first mentioned in the work, explaining if surviving, their present rank, and if dead, the date of their decease, and the rank which they then held.

A work brought out under such favourable auspices, and grounded upon materials which, considering the advanced age of the principal contributors, would at no remote period have been placed beyond our reach, cannot fail to excite, in a considerable degree, attention of the public; for which reason no pains have been spared in rendering the illustrations fully commensurate with the value and importance of the design. The edition is complete in 1 vol. 8vo. embellished with beautifully executed medallio portraits, and accompanied by a folio volume, (to be had separately), containing military maps and exquisitely engraved anaglyptographic plans from models expressly made by Captain Siborne, of the fields of battle of Quatre-Bras, Ligny, Wavre, and Waterloo.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The accounts already published vary as much, and so little reliance is to be placed upon some of the details, that we feel no apology to be requisite for noticing a work so faithful and excellent as that which has been recently published by Captain Siborne. Of all the accounts we have yet seen, that by Captain Siborne is the fullest, & fairest, we believe the most accurate—the best."—Times, Jan. 1845.

"It is written in a free and impartial manner, is lucid in its descriptions, & wisely correct in its details, and many important features of the campaign, which hitherto remained either wholly unnoticed, or else kept too much in shadow, are brought forward into proper relief; whilst the grand military operations of the are delineated with the pen of an enlightened soldier. In a word, by separating, with much discrimination, the gold from the dross, he has turned to excellent account the materials for his undertaking, which seem to have flowed to him from every quarter and the consequence is, that a standard history has been produced, remarkable for its spirit and vigour, as well as for its truth."—U. S. Journal.

"We hail this work as a standard history of the Battle of Waterloo and of the Campaign of Flanders—a worthy companion and sequel to the Peninsular Campaign of Napier. A compilation from the testimonies of eye-witnesses (as this is) had the been dressed up for publication, and subjected individually to the public judgment, would have been cold and lifeless; here all is freshness, vivacity, unaffected truth; and thus explained the very superior style of the writer, who possesses a nerve and spring of thought and a brilliant colouring of phrase, combined with a transparent clearness of expression, such as is rarely attained by the purely literary writer, and seldom, if ever found in connection with profound, professional, and practical knowledge, as in this work. The most intimately acquainted with the scenery and incidents of the days of June, 1815, are loudest and most decided in their admiration of the plans and portraits which embellish these volumes. The ground is engraved by a peculiar progress, which represents in relief the slightest elevation, and sinks the smallest depression by the peculiar curve and measure of the line. Thus, the spectator looks down upon the ground of the battle itself with the clear perception of all its undulations, and its every variety of form and aspect. A second, and very different process, to which the plate is the subject, places in their positions the troops exactly as they occupied the field. The speaking plans have an accuracy hitherto unimagined, with an effect which is unequalled by any previous attempt. There are portraits of the Heroes of the campaign, which have as much merit as novelty—being engraved medallions—perfect portraits in high relief."—Naval and Military Gazette.

"The eventful victory which these two splendid volumes are intended to commemorate has had many historians, but none so good or comprehensive as Captain Siborne. His facility of access to official documents, both English and foreign, the assistance which he has received from the surviving Waterloo heroes of all ranks, and the zeal, energy and talent, which he has displayed in the construction of his materials, have produced a record, not only of the battle itself, but of the whole Waterloo campaign, which is likely to be as enduring as it is creditable to his talents as a writer, and his reputation as a soldier. For ourselves we heartily thank Captain Siborne for his spirited volumes and sincerely do we hope they will meet their due reward. Of this we are certain, they cannot be too soon in the hands, not only of every Officer of the Service, but also of every civil member of the community."—United Service Gazette.

"We cannot feel our debt acquitted to Captain Siborne for the pleasure and instruction his work has afforded us, if we did not bring our unqualified testimony to the mind's accuracy of detail, the highly honourable and soldier-like spirit, and the admirable candour and fairness by which it is everywhere characterized. When the work was first announced for publication, we conceived great expectations from a history compiled by one whose access to every source of information was favoured both by interest in the highest quarters, and the circumstances of an official appointment on the staff. We were not disappointed. Such are the volumes before us—a Military Classic—and they will remain so while Waterloo is a word to stir the heart and nerve the arm of a British soldier."—Dublin University, May.

"We can declare in all sincerity that we have perused his narrative of marches and onslaughts with infinite satisfaction. He tells his tale with singular clearness. He is at home in all the varied movements and changes of position, &c.; and his account of Cavalry Charges, especially in the affair of Quatre Bras, the advance of columns and cannonading, sweep you onwards as if the scene described were actually passing under your eyes. His Plans and Charts too are excellent, and every way worthy of the modeller of the Field of Waterloo. We thank Captain S., not only for the amusement we have derived from his performance, but for the opportunity which the appearance of a genuine English History of the Battle of Waterloo supplies us with refuting some of the errors regarding it into which other historians have fallen."

ADVENTURES IN THE RIFLE BRIGADE, IN THE
PENINSULA, FRANCE, AND THE NETHERLANDS,
FROM THE YEAR 1809 TO 1815,
BY CAPTAIN JOHN KINCAID, FIRST BATTALION.

"An admirable little book."—Quarterly Review.

"To those who are unacquainted with John Kincaid of the Rifles,—and few, we know, of the old Peninsula bands are in this ignorant predicament, and to those who know him, we equally recommend the perusal of his book: it is a fac-simile of the man, a perfect reflection of his image, veluti in speculo. A capital Soldier, a pithy and graphic narrator, and a fellow of infinite jest. Captain Kincaid has given us, in this latest volume, the impress of his qualities, the beau ideal of a thorough-going Soldier Service, and the faithful and witty history of some six years' honest and triumphant fighting.

"There is nothing extant in a Soldier's Journal, which, with so little pretension, presents with such truth and raciness the 'domestic economy' of campaigning, and the downright business of handling the enemy.

"But we cannot follow further;—recommending every one of our readers to pursue the Author himself to his crowning scene of Waterloo, where they will find him as quaint and original as at his début. We assure them, it is not possible, by isolated extracts, to give a suitable impression of the spirit and originality which never flag from beginning to end of Captain Kincaid's volume; in every page of which he throws out flashes of native humour, a tithe of which would make the fortune of a Grub-street bookmaker."—United Service Journal.

"His book has one fault, the rarest fault in books, it is too short."

Monthly Magazine, April.

RANDOM SHOTS FROM A RIFLEMAN.

"It is one of the most pithy, witty, soldier-like, and pleasant books in existence."

United Service Journal.

"The present volume is to the full as pleasant, and what is still more strange, as original as the last. Criticism would become a sinecure if many such volumes were written: all left for us is to admire and recommend."—New Monthly Magazine.

"The present volume is likely to add to his reputation. It is a useful Appendix to the larger works of Napier and other military commentators. It is never dull, tedious, technical, or intricate."—Times.

"Those who have read Captain Kincaid's Adventures in the Rifle Brigade will seize this volume with avidity, and having dashed through it, will lay it down with only a feeling of regret—that it is not longer."—News.

ADVENTURES OF CAPTAIN JOHN PATTERSON

*With Notices of the Officers, &c. of the 50th, or Queen's Own Regiment,
FROM 1807 TO 1821.*

DEDICATED BY PERMISSION TO QUEEN ADELAIDE.

"This volume contains a well-written, yet unvarnished narrative, of the adventures of the 50th foot, (better known as the 'Dirty Half-hundred,' from their black facing during the Peninsular war. It argues well for the bravery, as well as modesty, of Captain Patterson, that throughout his work we have but little of himself, and much of his brother officers."—Bell's Messenger.

"Captain Patterson's Adventures are the record of a brave soldier—of a dashingly high-minded British officer, who never fears a rival, and never knew what it was to have an enemy, or to hate any man. His descriptions are remarkable for their vividness and accuracy, and his anecdotes will bear repetition once a week for life."—Standard.

"Captain Patterson is one of the pleasantest of the numerous tribe of gallant officers who has done so much credit to the British name, by fighting and writing with equal spirit."—Constitutional.

"The work is not like others we could name—a mere compilation from newspapers and magazines. Major Beamish has left no source of information unexplored; and the access he obtained to manuscript journals has enabled him to inter-perse his general narrative with interesting personal anecdotes, that render this volume as delightful to those who read for amusement, as those who read for profit."—Athenæum.

"We are altogether much pleased with the volume, and heartily recommend it to the British public."—Literary Gazette.

NEW LIFE OF LORD NELSON.

SECOND EDITION.

In 2 vols. 8vo. Illustrated with 4 original Portraits, Engravings and Facsimiles.

MEMOIRS OF THE LIFE OF VICE-ADMIRAL LORD VISCOUNT NELSON

K. B., DUKE OF BRONTE, ETC. ETC. ETC.

DERIVED PRINCIPALLY FROM HIS PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED,

BY

THOMAS JOSEPH PETTIGREW, ESQ., F.R.S., F.S.A.DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF GÖTTINGEN, ETC. ETC. ETC.

CONSIDERING the number of Lives* that have been written of the Vice-Adm Lord Viscount Nelson, and the voluminous Collection of his Dispatches and Let published by the late Sir Nicholas Harris Nicolas, it may be reasonably be infer that there remains nothing further in connexion with Nelson and his varied expl to be said—that, in fact, the subject is completely exhausted; yet, upon examinat it will be found that there exists a variety of interesting particulars unconfirme unexplained—and even mysterious. The full development of these, it must obvious, is only to be obtained from the PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE of the c brated hero.

It is well known that a very intimate, indeed, an almost daily correspondence maintained between Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton; and in the Letters and Documents, now to be presented to the public, a Diary will literally be found contain his thoughts and reflections upon the passing events, public and private, during course of his distinguished career. But the materials from which this new Life Nelson is composed are not confined to the letters which passed between Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton—they embrace also those of the King and Queen of Naples, the Emperor of Russia, the King of Sardinia, Prince Charles Felix of Savoy, the distinguished Naval Commanders and celebrated Diplomats of the time. Among these may be mentioned:—H.R.H. the Duke of Clarence, Earl St. Vincent, the Duke of Spencer, Earl of Bristol, Lord Elgin, Lord St. Helens, Lord Hobart, Lord Sidmouth, Lord Collingwood, Lord Melville, Lord Eldon, Lord Grenville, Lord Hood, Lord William Gordon; the Hon. Nicholas Vansittart; the Hon. H. Addington, the Hon. Hugh Elliot, the Hon. General Sir W. Stewart, Sir Thomas Troubridge, Sir T. Hardy, Sir Richard Keats, Sir J. T. Duckworth, Sir John Orde, Sir Hercules Ross, Sir Brooke Boothby, Sir Sidney Smith, Sir Alexander Ball, Sir Evan Nepean, Sir Edward Berry, Sir George Rose, Sir A. S. Hamond, Sir William Hoste, Sir H. Blackwood, Sir Pulteney Malcolm, Sir James Crawford, Sir Thomas Louis, Sir Benjamin Hall, Sir J. Sutton, Sir Manley Dixon, Sir J. Hillyar, Sir Thos. Staines, General Sir John Acton, General Dumouriez, Admiral Tchitchagoff, Count Bernstorff, Count Panin, Adjutant-General Lindholm, Governor Balaschoff, Captain Lloyd, Captain Parker, Captain Langford, Rev. A. J. Scott, (Chaplain to Lord Nelson), John Scott, Esq. (Secretary), William Beckford, Esq., R. Payne Knight, Esq., Richd Bulkeley, Esq., William Hayley, Esq., Alexander Davison, Esq., John Tyson, Esq., Perkins Muga, Esq. (Consul-General at Tunis), Lambton Esq., Rev. C. B. Abbott, Campbell, Dr. Baird, &c. Rev. Edmund Nelson (the father of Lord Nelson).

* By Clarke and M^r Arthur, Charnock, White, Churchill, Harrison, Southey, &c.

ady Nelson, Josiah Nisbet (her son), Rev. William afterwards Earl Nelson, Mrs. Hatcham (Lord Nelson's sister), Maurice Nelson, Esq. (his brother), &c. &c.

The light thrown upon the transactions which took place from the battle of the Nile, August 1, 1798, to that of Trafalgar, October 21, 1805, in the course of this extensive correspondence will be found most interesting; so also will the minute particulars relating to the conduct and flight of the Neapolitan Royal Family, the surrender of the Castles of Uovo and Nuovo, the Blockade of La Valetta, the Conquest of El Arish, &c. &c.

UPWARDS OF SIX HUNDRED LETTERS AND DOCUMENTS, WHICH HAVE NEVER BEFORE BEEN PRINTED, and the existence of which were scarcely known, will appear in these Memoirs, which have been written with a view of completing the history of one of the bravest and most patriotic Admirals that ever adorned the British Navy. It was originally the intention of the author simply to have edited the Correspondence and published it as Supplementary volumes to those which have already appeared; but on examination the documents were found to be too numerous and too interesting to be disposed of in that manner. They embrace such a variety of topics, public and private—correct so many errors and misconceptions that have gone forth and been generally believed—enter so unreservedly into the subjects to which they refer—altogether render such a complete picture of Lord Nelson's mind and character—that it has been adjudged most proper to arrange them as a distinct publication, in the form of a New Memoir, illustrative of the career of the Hero. Although it has been necessary in this view to describe the various actions and incidents in which Nelson was concerned, it has been thought proper not to enter upon minute details which have already appeared, and which by those who may be professionally interested in such matters will readily be found in the previously published Lives; but rather to endeavour to combine, in the form of a Narrative, the Correspondence alluded to with the particular events to which they apply, and which form so interesting a portion of our Naval History.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Mr. Pettigrew has executed his task well, and the public are indebted to him for what may be designated 'The' Life of Nelson. We must not omit to mention that these interesting volumes contain so much classic lore to Naval officers that they must find their place in the library of every ship that floats."—Nautical Magazine.

"It is impossible to peruse these two volumes without feeling that Mr. Pettigrew has rendered signal service to British history and to the memory of the renowned Hero."—United Service Gazette.

"We deem it a very extraordinary publication, since it pours a fresh flood of original papers before us, although we had been led to believe that every available paper written by Nelson had been gleaned, and was already printed."

United Service Journal.

"We conclude to-day the review of these most interesting volumes by recommending our friends to read them carefully; they will find many, very many passages and letters that will explain in the most lucid manner the motives that have actuated the great Commander in circumstances of difficulty and doubt."—Nautical Standard.

"This is a book which is likely to be read with avidity. It is the private history of Lord Nelson, the one which sets forth most unmistakably the true lineaments of the man. The entire Hamilton correspondence has been at the command of Mr. Pettigrew and he has turned it to good account. It is full of interest."—Atlas.

"Mr. Pettigrew has made admirable use of his materials, and his Memoirs on will be read, we are persuaded, much more generally than even that model biography 'Southey's Life.'"—Norfolk Chronicle.
